

Dear valued customers:

Announcing Thomson Power Systems

Thomson Technology has undergone a significant transformation. As part of a rebranding strategy, we are pleased to announce our new name and corporate image as Thomson Power Systems, part of the Regal Corporation.

We are excited about the strength of our new look. As we complete the transition, you will notice our new logo and new look for our brochures, trade show materials and business cards.

What it means for our existing clients is that it's "business as usual". You will continue to deal with the same individuals you have in the past and we will provide the same level of excellence you have come to experience.

As we continue on this exciting phase of growth, we would like to take the opportunity to thank our loyal clients and business associates.

Regards,

Rick Martin
Vice President
